IN HONOUR OF IAN REED

Ian Reed was the heart of Club Manly – a generous, genuine, and deeply loved man whose presence shaped the community around him. As a Club Chairman and a proud member of the Bayside Social Fishing Club, Ian poured kindness, humour, and connection into every room he walked into. If you knew Ian, you couldn't help but love him. He adored his family, served his club with pride, and lived with a warmth that brought people together. His wife, Jan, remains one of my favourite people, and it is with deep respect for both of them that Reedy's Bistro was created. Here, Ian's spirit continues – in the laughter between friends, the stories shared over a meal, and the feeling of belonging that he offered so naturally.

His words of wisdom to me during big catering days still echo:
"You're better off looking at it than looking for it,"
And yes, Ian... you were absolutely right.

MEET THE CHEF - SHELLEY

For me, food has never been just about ingredients – it's about people. After 30 years in hospitality, what still excites me the most is seeing the enjoyment that happens around a table. Food connects us. It creates memories. It brings joy.

Cooking is my creative outlet, but serving the community is my passion. Every dish at Reedy's Bistro is made to bring people together – families, friends, visitors, locals – all sharing a moment of comfort, celebration, or simply a good meal.

Reedy's Bistro is more than a kitchen to me. It's my way of honouring Ian and Jan Reed, celebrating the community they helped build, and creating a place where everyone feels welcome.

ABOUT REEDY'S BISTRO

Reedy's was created not only to honour Ian's legacy, but to continue his gift of inclusiveness. Ian had a beautiful way of making people feel like they belonged. I wanted Reedy's to be that same place – a connection point for the community.

My hope is that when people are deciding where to eat, they'll say:
"Where should we go tonight?"
"I know – let's go to Reedy's."

A place where good food brings good company together, and where good memories are made.
That's what Reedy's is all about.
